Commercial Dispute Resolution

Commercial disputes form the core of Nick's practice. He is experienced in all aspects of contractual disputes, including debt recovery, sale and supply of goods and services, consumer credit finance, factoring and insurance claims. As a pupil with Andrew Latimer, Nick gained particular experience of high-value breach of warranty and post-completion SPA claims

Nick regularly represents clients in court proceedings, including small claims trials, fast-track trials and common applications such as applications to set aside default judgment. Nick also commonly represents clients at procedural hearings, such as directions hearings and CCMCs involving issues under the disclosure pilot.

Nick has advised on all aspects of civil procedure, including issues relating to service out of the jurisdiction.

Profile

Nick became a tenant at Kings Chambers in September 2020 after completing pupillage under the supervision of Andrew Latimer and Eleanor Temple. Nick accepts instructions in all areas practised by the Business and Property team.

Under the supervision of Andrew Latimer, Nick gained experience in all aspects of commercial and chancery work, with an emphasis on commercial dispute resolution, company and property matters. In his second six and under the supervision of Eleanor Temple he gained particular experience in insolvency, banking and finance.

Prior to coming to the bar Nick qualified as a chartered accountant in the corporate tax team at one of the 'Big 4' firms, which provides a useful background when dealing with matters with an accounting, financial or tax aspect.
