Catherine Brown

Catherine was called to the bar in 1999 and practised as a barrister at Kings Chambers, Manchester for 14 years, specialising in the fields of personal injury, industrial disease and clinical negligence. She was appointed to the Attorney General's Regional Panel of Civil Counsel and practised in the civil and coroners' courts as well as the tribunal system.

Following a career change in 2014 she has built up a successful career as a freelance trainer and professional coach working in the public and private sectors to bridge the gap between lawyers and non-lawyers. She designs and facilitates workshops on a wide range of topics such as "How not to get sued (but what to do if you are)" and "A barrister's guide to managing difficult conversations". As a coach she specialises in helping both individuals and organisations achieve their full potential using a collaborative approach but deploying her forensic skills to make the sessions productive and challenging.
